ORAL ORDER

(Passed on 16th January, 2006)

The following order of the Court was passed by

D.R. DESHMUKH, J. :

In this appeal, the only point urged before us is that in a personal injury case, the compensation awarded by the learned MACT is very much on lower side. However, on a perusal of the impugned award, we find that no medical evidence was adduced. It was also not proved that the appellant – injured has suffered any permanent disability. Learned MACT has awarded actual medical expenses incurred by the appellant – injured as well as Rs.2,000/- towards loss of income during laid off period. We find no infirmity in the award passed by the learned MACT. The appeal is devoid of merit and it is accordingly dismissed at the admission stage. No costs.
